Remarks:

- Please note that we cannot rent you a car if you do not have a valid license or permit as below. You also need to check the permit stamp in the classification column to confirm that the applicant is qualified to drive the rental car.
  - A driver's license issued by public safety commissions in Japan.
  - An international driving permit issued under the ordinances of the Geneva Convention on Road Safety of 1949 with passport.
  - An international driving permit issued in Hong Kong or Macau with passport.
  - German, French, Swiss, Belgian and Monegasque driver's license with passport and the Japanese translation form, which is issued by the Japanese Embassy, Consulate, or JAF <Japan Automobile Federation>.
  - Taiwanese driver's license with passport and the Japanese translation form, which is issued by JAF <Japan Automobile Federation>, or Association of East Asian Relations.
- Time charge includes insurance which covers certain amount of accident fee excludes CDW and NOC.
- If you take Exclusion of Liability Compensation System (CDW), certain deductible amounts will be waived in case of an accident, provided the accident does not fall under the category specifically mentioned for exemption in the insurance policy. This option is valid only if selected at the time of rental.
- We ask you to pay maximum 50,000JPY in compensation for vehicle repair due to car accident, stealing, breakdown, defacement, etc. (NOC)
- Double Protection Package is a new package combining the exclusion of liability compensation system and exemption from Non Operation Charge (NOC) payment.
- Please make sure the car's fuel type when you pick the car up.
- You need to present a relevant card for discount at the rental agency, and the card must be in the bearer's name and that person must be the driver or a passenger in the vehicle at all times.
